Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Notes on the English Literature Examination Papers: For Admission to High Schools (1878) In dealing with literature the teacher must have, as in his other work, one object steadily in view: - his pupils must understand dearly everything the lesson contains; nothing must be taken for granted; it will not do to take their own word for it, or to make them learn accurately the appended notes; the teacher must satisfy himself in his own way that the work is understood. It is very vexatious to find how little is really taken in by the pupil reading over a lesson in the usual way. The notes will give information, make suggestions, call attention to what might be passed over as mere common-place; but they can never supply the place of the teacher; it is he alone that can adapt the question to the needs or capacities of the pupil, he alone that can meet the difficulties and arouse the dormant intelligence of each. He will speedily find that he will have to draw largely upon...
