Warned by Jeremiah0, he resisted for some years the solicitations of neighbouring nations to join with them in attempting to throw off the yoke of Babylon; but at length, in violation of his oath of fidelity, he entered into a confederacy with Pharaoh Hophra, king of Egypt, and thus drew upon himself the war which ended in his utter ruin, and the calamitous destruction of Judah and Jerusajem. The Jews, terrified at the approach of the Chaldeans, made a show of returning to their allegiance to the one true God, and entered into a solemn covenant thenceforth to serve Him only, and faithfully observe His laws. They released their servants, whom they had detained in bondage beyond the time permitted by the...
