Not illustrated. 1905 Excerpt: .Aug. 26-Nov. 9 a mean period of about 7h 594m is indicated. I hope, later on, to determine the period with some accuracy from a considerable number of observations. Only one observation of the phase $w = -$, with v increasing, has as yet been secured. It was recorded on Nov. 9 at 21h 50m Eastern Standard Time--3h 15m later than the corresponding phase with v decreasing. The time-interval between these phases is evidently variable. It was about five hours on Sept. 12-13 and 13-14, according to the records of those dates. I should add that the mean brightness of v is closely equal to that of a . My first observations of 32 Cassiopeiae and B. D. + 63 149 were made on Aug. 20, the variation in relative brightness was detected a few days later. Up to date I have secured 187 complete observations of these stars, besides a number of comparisons with B. D. + 63 99. It may be desirable to indicate, in a few words, the writer s method of observation. No attempt is made to observe the stars The changes here referred to cannot be attributed to errors of observation, nor to variation in the light of the chief comparison-star, B.D.+ 63i49. f The correction for light-equation, due to the earth s orbital motion, is here inappreciable. X The observations of Aug. 26-27 afford only rough time-estimations for the phase $v--a$. together, but each in turn is quickly brought to the...
