IN VIEW OF ACADEMIC CAREERS AND CAREER-MAKING SCHOLARS: INNOVATIVE IDEAS FOR INSTITUTIONAL REFORM (HC)

Information Age Publishing. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Hardcover. 212 pages. Dimensions: 9.3in. x 6.2in. x 0.7in. This volume connects career making to the general social context in which it takes place, career making individuals to the large institutional establishment in which they operate, and specifically career academicians to the overall knowledge enterprise from which they draw their intellectual inspiration, on which they build their career achievements, and to which they contribute their personal talents. The main purpose is to explore what academic institutions, the knowledge enterprise, and the society as a whole can and ought to do to enhance productivity, facilitate performance, and improve experience of individual academicians in their career-making endeavor. Although various innovative ideas are presented to improve normal procedures or standard processes throughout academia, answers to this focal question often lie in different levels of organizational units involved in academic operation. That is, what should a department do for its faculty, a college for its departments, a university for its colleges, an association for its member organizations, or a government for its academic institutions, in the best interest of the latter. Similarly, although reformative measures are proposed to the attention of established entities or institutionalized systems, change within the existing situation or practice to a large degree depends upon how people in various social roles relate to each other, in attitude as well as in behavior, when they perform their specific job. In other words, what should a professor do for graduate students, a senior scholar for junior colleagues, a chair for faculty members, a dean for chairs, a university chancellor for deans, an editor for authors, or an association president for the general membership, from the due perspective of the latter. The logic or legitimacy of examining this focal question and its organizational unit and social role is...
